An exchange says: "Economy is a good thing, but it is a poor policy to set a hen on one egg, to save eggs." Wise advertisers do not depend on a single advertisement and a single insertion to bring them a fortune. 'Keeping everlastingly at it, brings success.'"

The receipts of live hogs at the Chicago market during June were 774,000. The records show that this is the heaviest June receipts in ten years.

Richmond Court.

Yesterday was a dull court-day. Only about 200 cattle on the market. Prices ranged from 2½ to 4 cents. Horses brought a better figure than usual, ranging from $15 to $35. Good many on the market. There was considerable demand for mules, but few offered, those sold bringing from $37.50 to $80.—Register.

That is a strange story we get from the little Illinois town of Mt. Carmel. A man is in jail there, and he is trying to enjoin the authorities from letting him out. He has five wives waiting for him.

Judge J. M. Alexander went out the other morning and picked twelve gallons of blackberries before dinner. The Judge is 79 years old, and the youngest man of his age in the State.—Sharpsburg World.

Mr. W. M. Quisenberry, of Stepstone creek, has 7 ewes which had 17 lambs. He raised 13 of them and sold them to Mr. Joe Turley, of this city. The average weight of 13 was 106 pounds, which at 4 cets per pound brought the farmer $4.24, or $55.12 for the lot. The yield of each ewe was $6.88 and the wool. If these lambs had sold for 5½ cents, as many did, the price for each lamb would have been $5.83.—Mt. Sterling Advocate.

A paris business man who has a sunday school class was walking along the banks of stoner last Sunday afternoon, when he espied one of his pupils just getting into his clothes after a swim.

"I'm very sorry to see you coming out from swimming on Sunday" he said.

"Yes sir," replied the urchin "I'm sorry to come out but it's too blamed cold to stay in."—Paris Reporter.

A man at Belding Mich. stole his neighbors wife, and the woman brought suit for divorce. Her husband met the wife and her lover and agreed that the woman should go to the man she loved best, and said he would give up all claims to her if her lover would deed him thirty acres of land. This was done and at the same time license was taken to wed the lady under her maiden name.

A Missouri paper has the following to say about cigarettes:

"A cigarette is a roll of paper, tobacco and drugs with a small fire at one end and a large fool at the other. Some of its chief enjoyments are condensed nightmare, cancer of the lip and stomach, spinal meningitis, softening of the brain, funeral procession and families shrouded in gloom. There are plenty of subjects left, however, who are willing to undergo the same trial of such a trivial nature for the sake of cheap manhood."

Once in Seven Years.

Mr. Woodsos Heathman, who owns a good farm between here and Newby, was in town Tuesday for the first time in seven years. This is remarkable when it is considered that Mr. Heathman is in good health, lives only 3¼ miles from Richmond and every day can see from his yard the water tower and court-house cupola. He is 74 years old and was born on the spot where he now lives. He says during all these years he had no business in town and therefore saw no reason why he should come.—Richmond Register.

"It makes me tired" said an observant citizen the other day "to see that Miss Smith, for instance, has accepted a position with Tape & Co," or that a certain firm has secured the services of Mr. Jones, when the truth of matter is that Miss Smith thinks herself extremely fortunate to get the place which was wanted by a dozen others, and Mr. Jones had worn out a couple of pairs of shoes looking for a job. In these days few people "accept" positions; the most of them secure them after the liveliest kind of hustling, and it is no discredit to them either. It behooves a man who is out of a job to hustle, and he is to be congratulated when his efforts are rewarded by a situation that will enable him to make a living."—Exchange.

The Winchester Democrat has increased in size from a seven to nine column folio. There is no better local paper published in Kentucky than the Democrat, and it fully deserves the prosperity which it now enjoys, notwithstanding the Republican administration.

Gold And Silver in Estill.

J. King, of this city, returned Monday night from Estill county, with two nuggets of gold and silver which he says he found on Cow creek three miles above Irvine. Mr. J. Robert Rigg will make a chemical analysis and if they are the "stuff" we will close up shop and a Klondyke of our own. King declares he is going to make a find here's hoping he will.—Richmond Climax.

If your business is dull and you are feeling the weight of the gold standard, don't wait for the McKinley prosperity, but place an advertisement in the Times, the only paper published in Estill county, and see your trade grow.

Your attention is directed to the advertisement of W. T. Webb, Watchmaker and Jeweler, Clay City which appears in this issue.

The Republican orators in the last State campaign said the people needed a change. In electing a Republican ticket the people did not think they meant a change for the worse.
We have had several changes since the Republicans took charge of State affairs. We have had our tax rate changed from 42½ to 52½ cents on the hundred;
the school per capita has changed from $2 80 to $2 20 and so on.
These are all changes.—Mayfield Mirror.

A number of Kentucky papers are advocating cheaper school books and on this subject the Henderson Gleaner in a recent issue says: The people should take up the question of cheaper school books in earnest.
Nor should they lay it down until they have effected their purpose. Every penny saved on the cost of school books means more bread and butter for the poor man's child. There is no doubt but that school book publishers can make exorbitant profits at present price. The people must take the initiative in these matters or they will continue to be fleeced on every hand.

McKinley has driven a num-

cans from the party on account of the appointment of negroes to important offices in that section.

The government spent only eleven million dollars more in July than it received, but this small deficit of three hundred and twenty-five thousand dolcreased when the new machine gets fully at work in building canals, buying telegraph lines, laying cables, stealing islands,

A Monster Rat-ification.

The Climax's big rat story of last spring, wherein it was related that a hundred rats had been caught by three ferrets at John Powers' barn, near Silver Creek, is surpassed by the late achievement of Mr. Powers at the same place. Last week a crowd of men gathered at the barn, and with dogs and sticks they drove rats into a large hole until they were able to pull 108 out with wire hooks. The barn is still infested with the pesky rodents and Mr. Powers is thinking of having a rat-ifica-tion some day when he will move the barn and invite all his neighbors to participate in the celebration.—

What Are Dog Days?

"What are dog days, and when do they begin?" we have been asked. Webster says: "A period of from four to six weeks, in the summer, variously placed by almanac makers between the early part of July and the early part of September; canicular days; so called in reference to the rising in ancient times of the Dog Star, Sirius, with the sun. Popularly the sultry, close part of the summer. The conjunction of the rising of the Dog Star with the rising of the sun was regarded by the ancients as one of the causes of the sultry heat of summer, and of the maladies when these prevailed. But as the conjunction does not occur at the same time in all latitudes, and is not constant in the same region for a long period, there has been much variation in calendars regarding the limits of dog days. The astronomer Roger Long states that in an ancient calen ar in Bede the beginning of dog days is placed on the 14th of July; that in a calendar prefixed to the Common Prayer, printed in the time of Queen Elizabeth, they were said to begin on the 6th of July and end on the 5th of September; that from the Restoration—1660—to the beginning of New Style—1752—British almanacs placed the beginning on the 19th of July and end on the 28th of August; and that after 1752 the beginning was put on 30th of July, the end on the 30th of September. Some English calendars now put the beginning on July 3rd and the ending on August 11th. A well known American almanac in 1890 fixed the beginning on July 25th and end on September 5th." Chambers says: "From the Heliacal rising of the Dog Star, Sirius, the ancients reckoned their dog days, or Dies Caniculares, which were 40 in number—20 before and 20 after the rising of the star. The rising of the star was in ignorance supposed to be the occasion of the extreme heat and the diseases incidental to these days. It was by mere accident that the rising of the star coincided with the hottest season of the year, in the times and countries of the old astronomers. The time of its rising depends on the latitude of the place, and is later and later every year in all latitudes, owing to precession. In time the star will rise in the dead of winter. The Canicular Year was that known among the Egyptians and Ethiopians. It was computed from one rising of Sirius to the next, and consisted ordinarily of 365 days, and every fourth year of 366. This year was sometimes called Heliacal Year. The reason for computing the year from the rising of Sirius seems to have been that, at the time, the heliacal rising coincided with the greatest swelling of the Nile." Thus it seems that dog days do not mean anything in particular or in general, and are of no use or disadvantage, and have no real time for beginning or ending. Like going out to find the Slashes, they are always a little father along the road, untill "they are away back yonder—you've passed 'em some time ago."—Richmond Register.
